

Research and Action to Build a New Vision for Public Education

Thursday, April 30th, 2015 at 6PM (reception to follow)

University of Massachusetts, Boston

Campus Center, 3rd floor, Room 3540

Reception hosted by the UMass Boston McCormack Graduate School of Policy and Global Studies and the College of Education and Human Development

URBAN Boston and the Boston Education Justice Alliance (BEJA) invite you to be a part of a dialogue with Boston area activists and scholar-activists from across the country leading action research projects for educational justice. Featured speakers include:

Michelle Fine

Distinguished Professor, CUNY Graduate Center

Joyce King

President of the American Education Research Association

Julio Cammarota

Associate Professor, Department of Mexican-American and Raza Studies at the University of Arizona

Heshan Berents-Weeramuni

Co-Chair, Citywide Parents Council, Boston Public Schools

Jessica Tang

Director of Organizing, Boston Teachers Union

The YOUNG Coalition

(Youth Organizers for the Now Generation)

Please RSVP to urban.boston@umb.edu by Friday, April 24th, 2015.

If you require disability-related accommodations for this event, please contact us at urban.boston@umb.edu before Friday, April 17th so that we can accommodate your request.

URBAN.Boston is an emerging network of scholars and community activists facilitating meaningful and successful collaborative research projects in the Boston community. To join our email list and learn about future events, please contact us at urban.boston@umb.edu or visit urbanresearchnetwork.org.